2012 WFA Preseason Rankings – February 18, 2012

1. KANSAS CITY TRIBE MO
2. DC DIVAS MD
3. SAN DIEGO SURGE CA
4. CHICAGO FORCE IL
5. NEW YORK SHARKS
6. BOSTON MILITIA MA
7. UTAH JYNX
8. PITTSBURGH PASSION PA
9. DALLAS DIAMONDS TX
10. CENTRAL CAL WAR ANGELS CA
11. ST. LOUIS SLAM MO
12. LONE STAR MUSTANGS TX
13. WEST MICHIGAN MAYHEM
14. AUSTIN OUTLAWS TX
15. JACKSONVILLE DIXIE BLUES FL

NOTES: 2012 has the top WFA contenders sounding a little bit like the flavor of a popular British Rock band in name ... KC-DC ... followed closely by San Diego. If Chicago returns their offensive line from last year, the Tribe will be in for a dog fight.

Boston and San Diego might have a hard time selling and motivating its players for a second consecutive long year of playoff expenses and commitment.

Look for the Jynx to catch everyone by surprise and make some noise in the playoffs.

Although a fine program, Jacksonville will once again struggle outside the state of Florida come playoff time.

2012 IWFL Preseason Rankings – February 18, 2012

1. SACRAMENTO SIRENS CA
2. CALIFORNIA QUAKE
3. CAROLINA PHOENIX NC
4. ATLANTA XPLOSION GA
5. MONTREAL BLITZ QC
6. SEATTLE MAJESTICS WA
7. PORTLAND SHOCKWAVE OR
8. HOUSTON ENERGY TX

NOTES: Same familiar faces at the top with nothing new again this year, except the Sirens go undefeated...and may shutout 6 out of their 8 teams in the regular season.

The naming circus in Atlanta – Xplosion, Ravens and now Xplosion, again -- have WFA competition in their town this year for player recruiting when camp opens. This may come as a crushing surprise to their coaches who've become accustomed to winning big.

The Quake goes undefeated in the regular season too, but stumbles against their in-state rival, the Sirens.

The good news in North Carolina is the Phoenix take the east. The bad news is they take one on the chin (very hard) in the championship game by the winner from the wild west.
